

$5,120 Estimated Cost Of Renovating Aurora Roads

Aurora—Following the obtaining of prices for taking down the crown, levelling, and providing a three-inch crushed stone surface for Spruce, Maple, and the north end of Edward St., and Connaught and Harrison Aves., which amounted in all to $5,120, and after hearing suggestions made by the contractor regarding the financing and roads installed at Tillsonburg, a committee of the Aurora council of Reeve C. E. Sparks, Deputy Reeve A. A. Cook, and Council-

MOOT LEASING BY TOWN OF AURORA RINK

Aurora—Under its present road estimates of $3,877.28, Aurora will receive back from the Ontario government over $1,900. Council learned recently that the department of highways had approved the road budget. The 1947 county levy for Aurora is higher than last year, by a few hundred dollars, and amounts to $7,510.87. This amount is computed as follows: general purposes, $3,483.21; vocational schools $430.32; roads, $1,036.66; road construction and maintenance, $1,741.00. Five new hydrants purchased by the town cost $447.50, while pipes and valves cost $498.65. First instalment on workmen's compensation for the year for municipal employees cost $214.02. Councillor Stewart Patrick reported that he had had several builders look at the repairs needed at the arena, but no person was interested in doing the work. "We'll just have to do some small repairs and allow the matter to stand. I'm wondering if it isn't the smart thing on our part to let out the arena in place of operating it each year. If the figures were available you'd be surprised at what it is costing us," he commented. "I am in accord with that. I think we should seriously consider letting some person run the rink," said Councillor Davies. "As chairman of the finance committee, I think we could do better, and yet make certain arrangements for free skating as well as if the arena were leased," said Councillor Thomas Swindle. "I like the idea of the public using the arena as they do now, perhaps we could get some satisfactory person. At any rate it's worth investigating."

"I am not in favor of the arena being let out," said Deputy Reeve A. A. Cook. "It hasn't worked out too good in the past. The arena wasn't built as a money-making project." The sports committee will be asked to bring in a report showing the pros and cons of the situation at an early meeting.

Bradford Kids Swim In Lake Simcoe

(From Globe and Mail, Toronto)
Monday is the largest day of Bradford's week, just now. For one thing, it's wash day and there's a bit of trouble about getting enough water to soak away the tattle-tale grey, as the town's water commission has had difficulty in getting a new artesian well to produce. Mostly, though, it's the day three or four score Bradford youngsters go to Innisfil Park on Lake Simcoe for their swimming lesson. The Holland River's practically at Bradford's front door but there isn't a bathing beach anywhere along the river's reedy banks. So the kids are loaded into a bus and go screaming joyfully off to Lake Simcoe in the charge of three or four alert adults. The Red Cross foots the bill for the bus. Miss Louise Colley, energetic recreation directress for Simcoe County, gives the swimming lessons. Police Join In Too

Usually there's a provincial constable on the job, too. But not to stop any juvenile crime waves. Don Erskine or Hugh Garry go along to act as banker. Somebody has to look after the dimes, quarters and half-dollars with which the youngsters replenish their interior economy after a busy afternoon in the lake. There is, too, the important matter of finding what became of Johnny's bathing suit, Willie's shirt or little Aggie's right shoe. Hugh Garry was with the Special Service Force in Italy. He scaled the rocks of the Toulon forts when the Allied forces took the south of France. A "potato masher" grenade chewed him up somewhat and he had to drop back out of the highly trained assault fighters. Despite a fairly rough time during the war and a fair share of noise and excitement, even Constable Garry wears a slightly strained expression before all the infants are collected and safely loaded aboard the home-bound bus. In spite of which, his tone remains calm and friendly as six-year-old Sue asks if he can, please, do something about her dress falling off in public. A borrowed safety pin relieves Sue's worries and the versatile constable is ready for the next commission—and not likely to be long getting it, either.

GUARD'S SWIFT ACTION SAVES LAKE VICTIM

Aurora—The alert action of Heath Hamilton, Aurora, swimming instructor and life guard at Wilcox Lake, saved the life of 22-year-old Mickey Barber, Toronto, on Sunday evening. Barber, an experienced swimmer, was spending the weekend at the lake. In company with other young people he was swimming late Sunday night beyond the diving raft when he suddenly encountered difficulties, and disappeared from sight before his companions could do anything for him. The cry for help reached Hamilton who was on shore. He rushed to the scene, recovering Barber from the lake after a swift search in the dark.

Returning to shore, artificial respiration was applied for 20 minutes by Hamilton before signs of life returned. After Barber had recovered consciousness, he was rushed to his home in Toronto, later going to Toronto General hospital.

In addition to his life-saving duties under the Red Cross, Mr. Hamilton has a class of over 100 youngsters and adults who are learning to swim under his tuition.

LACK OF HELP AGAIN PLAGUES YORK FARMERS

Newmarket—There is a heavy crop of hay this year, but unfortunately there is also an acute shortage of labor to take it off. Agricultural Representative W. M. Cockburn said on Monday, "The winter wheat is very promising, although there will be considerable loss from loose smut, which is gradually increasing. The smut-resistant variety, brought into the country last year by the Crop Improvement Association, is showing a negligible amount of loose smut."

"One hundred and forty farmers have applied for western harvesters to help them take off their hay and grain crops. To date we have only received 35 men to fill these orders," he continued. "The labor situation at the Holland marsh has been alleviated by the arrival of 40 workers and their families from Holland (about 100 people in all). It is anticipated that more of these will be coming out in the fall."

"The early sown oats are heading out quickly these days, with promise of a fair yield, but we definitely can't look for a big yield from late-sown grain. If we are wrong in this, we will be tickled to death of course. The late-sown grain is proceeding satisfactorily, but the acreage will almost certainly be down."

"The early potatoes are in blossom, but most reports indicate a reduced acreage of both the early and late varieties," Mr. Cockburn said.

Referring to smut, Mr. Cockburn said that during the past two years, growers of winter wheat have become very much concerned over the amount of loose smut in their wheat fields and many of them are anxious to get fresh seed. "Fresh seed is not the answer as it might have even more of this smut in it than in their own," he said. Unfortunately, the loose smut which shows at heading time blows off into the blossom on healthy heads and no external treatment with chemicals will control it.

"Since the recommended hot water treatment is rather slow and intricate, the York County Crop Improvement Association last year arranged to get a quantity of a new variety developed in New York State College at Cornell which is resistant to loose smut though not entirely immune to it," he continued.

"This seed was distributed to 27 farmers and has proven very satisfactory with less than one tenth of one percent of smut."

The farmers of York county are invited to attend a twilight field meeting at Leitchcroft Farms on No. 7 highway two miles east of Langstaff on Friday evening, July 18, to see the wheat variety test plots and a field of Cornell 595. It will also be an opportunity to see one of the new electric hay dryers in action in the Leitchcroft barn. The meeting will start sharp at 7.45 D.S.T. with a draw for two bushels of Cornell wheat.

Much Painting, Building Reported In Newmarket

Newmarket—The members of the Newmarket Association of Sidewalk Superintendents have this week had their attention attracted to the many sites at which exterior beautification of property has been taking place. The Robert E. Manning blacksmith shop has been receiving its first coat of paint, a box-car red, in an estimated 60 years. The home of Wesley Squires on Main St., formerly that of Mr. Manning, is shining forth in a new white coat, with yellow trim, and Myers' Confectionary store has been receiving a complete exterior renovation.

Mayor Joseph Vale is reported to be adding several rooms to his home, and the Sedore houses at the corner of Queen and Main Sts. are scheduled to be moved soon.

The former Elvidge store at the corner of Simcoe and Main Sts., now occupied by Dyer's Upholstery, has been repainted, and the home of Miss Gladys Noxon on Gorham St. has also been painted. Frank Bowser's new house on Gorham St., formerly occupied by Mrs. Sweet, is another one on the list. Bill Koshel is adding an additional store on Timothy St.

Attacked By Two In Night, Landing Storekeeper Says

Holland Landing—Two unknown assailants early Saturday morning entered the bedroom of Peter T. Walker, general storekeeper at Holland Landing, and assaulted him with a short-handled garden rake, according to Constable Jack Lawrence, who with Detective W. E. Martindale, investigated the incident.

"The two men came through a rear bedroom window of Walker's tobacco store and pool room at about 3 a.m. Saturday morning. They were standing beside Walker's bed when he woke up, and they hit him over the head three or four times with a garden rake which they had picked up outside. Walker broke away and jumped out of the window, whereupon one of his assailants ran away," Constable Lawrence said.

"Walker managed to reach the home of a neighbor, Cecil Britton," Constable Lawrence continued. "By the time Walker and Britton had returned to Walker's place the second man had left, and neighbors had gathered. They gave first aid to Walker until the police and a doctor arrived."

"Nothing was taken, and assault seems to have been the only motive of the intruders, although Walker says he has no enemies and seems to be a well-liked citizen of the community. He said he could not think of anyone who might have a grudge against him."

Constable Lawrence said he thought he and Martindale might have results "within a few days."

Mother Arrives From Greece After Weeks Of Uncertainty

Newmarket—"Johnny" Vassel, whose father was "missing and presumed killed" in the Canadian Army in the First World War, whose only brother, Nicholas, served for five and a half years in the second World War, and as a mounted policeman was finally killed in a skirmish with the communists in Greece on January 10 of this year, has completed arrangements to bring his mother, Donna Vassel, to Canada from Barrea, northern Greece.

Since November 19, Johnny has been the proprietor of the Newmarket Grill. He came from Greece to live in Toronto on January 1, 1930. "Every January I begin a new year in Canada for me," he says. He began trying to make arrangements to bring Mrs. Vassel out several months ago, but the state of world finances held him up. The first telegram he received told him to send money in American currency. Then a second telegram was received to the effect that American currency would not be acceptable, and on Monday he received a third telegram asking that the money be sent in sterling. "The telegram said my mother would arrive in Montreal on July 20," Johnny said happily. Mrs. Vassel will live with a sister in Windsor for a while until Johnny is able to find a suitable place here. "When you send for relatives you have to give a definite address where they will stay when they get here, and at the time I sent for her, her sister's home was the only place available," he explained. When Johnny came to Toronto from Greece he immediately went into restaurant work, starting at the bottom. He worked for Bassell's, Harmony Grill, and Letros in Toronto before saving enough to open his own cafe. He was in business in three different locations before coming to Newmarket. He has been particularly active in sports and in boys' work since coming to Canada, working at night at the Kiwanis boys' clubs for 14 years. He was a playground supervisor for the Kiwanis for eight years, and when the Lions club recreation program began here last week he went down to see if he could help the teen-aged supervisors out. He has belonged to the Y.M.C.A. for 14 years.

CROWN ASKS $10,000 BAIL FOR MacLEAN

Newmarket—Bail was set at $10,000 for George Maclean, Newmarket, when he was remanded for a week at the request of his counsel, Lorne C. Lee, in magistrate's court on Friday. Maclean was arrested by Constable Aubrey Fleury on July 4, less than 12 hours after he had allegedly beaten Robert Dempsey, Lansing, and robbed him of a watch. A charge of theft was laid against him at that time but on Friday morning, a new charge of robbery and violence was laid and Mr. Lee asked for a remand on the strength of the new charge. His request was granted but Crown Attorney Arleigh Armstrong then asked that if bail were allowed it be set at $10,000. According to police, Maclean was unable to meet the amount. Magistrate O. S. Hollnake, O.B.E., K.C., presided.

LAKE TRAFFIC HEAVY

Newmarket—John O. Hines, supervisor of the Newmarket division, Gray Coach lines, said on Monday that 11 sections had been required to transport passengers down from the lake on Sunday evening. "There were well over 325 passengers, but that number does not approach the record, which is over 500 passengers. The car traffic coming down was very heavy, too, but none of the busses became involved in accidents," he said.

130 BOYS ATTEND ASHUNYOONG SO FAR

Newmarket—According to Rev. Henry Cotton, 130 boys including those from Newmarket, have attended the two North York boys' camps at Camp Ashunyoong during the past two weeks. "The boys from the second camp arrived home on Monday night," he said. "The junior girls' camp is filled to capacity and 35 girls from Newmarket are attending it. They left here on Tuesday night. The senior girls will leave Trinity United church on Tuesday, July 22, at 6.30 p.m., and the same truck which takes them up to the camp will bring the junior girls back to Newmarket at about 8.30 p.m. It is expected that over 400 girls and their leaders will attend the five girls' camps before August 31."

FORMER RESIDENT JOHN R. WARREN DIES

Newmarket—Stricken suddenly while on a trip west to visit his nieces, John Robert Warren, Toronto, formerly of Newmarket, was taken off the train at Chicago, where he died a short time later. Son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Warren, he married Thelma Trivett who predeceased him two or three years ago. When his father first came to Newmarket from Holland Landing he was employed as an engineer at Park's tannery, and he later became the first engineer at the Newmarket Water Works.

John Warren was employed for many years as a machinist at Cane's factory. He left Cane's for the Singer Sewing Machine Co., and he was employed by them for over 35 years. He was superannuated only recently. Mr. Warren played the cornet in the Newmarket Citizens' Band while he resided here, and he also played in the Sunday-school orchestra. He was a member of the United Church and the Odd-fellows' Lodge.

Mrs. John Gadsby, Newmarket, Mrs. John Gable, Keswick, Norman, Garnet and Ross Trivett, Newmarket, are surviving relatives, as well as Mr. Warren's nieces on the west coast. The funeral service was held at the chapel of Roadhouse and Rose on Thursday, July 10, with Rev. Henry Cotton officiating. Interment was in Newmarket cemetery.

GIVE THE PEACOCK BACK HIS FEATHERS

With the summer heat, there comes a rash of editorial protest from editors in resort communities against the appearance on the main streets of their towns of women in slacks, shorts and the handkerchiefs they have taken to wearing instead of clothes. The protesting editors say such dress may be appropriate for the beach or the privacy of one's summer cottage but on the main streets it is most offensive to more conservative dressers.

Not being too near a summer resort, Newmarket has not been witness to the sights complained of by others, and there has been little need to raise our voice with them. But that has all gone by the board. On Friday we saw a sight which converted us on the spot—but we hasten to add that the sight was masculine in gender.

We saw a man wearing shorts on Main St. Now, there is nothing wrong with shorts. We wear them ourselves when gardening, that is until the mosquitoes become too fierce. They are quite comfortable and allow the maximum of freedom for weeding. We like them. But the shorts we saw on Friday brought tears of strain to the eyes of their beholders. They were purple; they were orange. They had a pattern which looked like a nightmare in a jungle. They fairly shrieked in the hot air.

Now what under the sun would move a man to bedeck himself in such garments. Their color adds nothing to comfort. They tell us that such shorts are the thing in Hawaii but on Main St., Newmarket, they were as much in keeping as a whale in Fairy Lake. To the shirt-sleeved, suspender-snapping crew in front of the hardware, those shorts were like a mirage out of the heat waves rising off Main St.'s tarred surface.

Let us admire the peacock's feathers on the peacock where they belong instead of being horrified by an imitation hung from the hips of a summer visitor. It just isn't natural.

WELL LIT STREETS DETER CRIMINALS

Last week, police received a report of an attack against a woman on Joseph St. It was the second such report from that section of Newmarket in a matter of months.

It is no coincidence that the report comes from one of the more poorly lit streets of a poorly lit municipality. The criminal acts in the darkness. He fears the light. Darkness is an encouragement to crime; well lit streets deter crime.

Some months ago, a similar assault was committed against a child on Queen St. just east of the railway bridge where the street lighting is particularly inadequate. At that time, we urged the authorities to undertake a program of improved street lighting. Little or nothing has been done. The report of last week could be very well considered a result of this inattention.

Newmarket employs a police force and has a night patrol but that is not sufficient. Well lighted streets can accomplish much as statistics have proven in other cities. At the very least, the foliage of trees which obscure street lights throughout Newmarket could be trimmed away.

T.B. CLINIC OPENS TOMORROW

The free chest x-ray clinic, part of an effort to stamp out tuberculosis, begins its work in Newmarket tomorrow. Present indications are that the survey will be a success in terms of numbers. Canvassers who have interviewed individual citizens and given them appointments, report in the main an enthusiastic response. Industry has been co-operative with time off during the day for their employees to attend the clinic.

Those living outside Newmarket, to whom the opportunity to participate in the survey was extended, have responded in encouraging numbers as the lists of names which appeared in last week's issue of The Era and Express, and this week, would indicate. The names so listed do not represent a large percentage of the rural population but there are many more who will enjoy the benefits of the clinic but who have not formally registered.

The benefits of such a clinic must be obvious to any thinking person. The clinical procedure has been so simplified that one need only take a few seconds, and that without any inconvenience such as a partial disrobing. The clinic hours are generous. It remains open as late as 9 p.m. during week nights. Every effort has been taken to ensure the convenience and comfort of the public. In return, those attending the clinic receive valuable medical assurance. They learn whether or not they suffer from tuberculosis of the lungs. If the former, their chances of recovery are vastly enhanced. More important, if they are found to be suffering from the disease, its early discovery will prevent its spread to members of their family.

There will be the inevitable few who, confident of their immunity from the disease, will look upon the clinic as a nuisance to be avoided. They feel all right so why bother. A feeling of well being is no guarantee of immunity, for tuberculosis in its early stage offers no symptoms but those which can be discovered by x-ray. The few who avoid the clinic because they feel they are healthy likely harbor among them one who has the disease, who risks the chances of his recovery and endangers all whom he contacts because he will not spare a minute of his time in the interest of his own and the community health.

Every effort has been made by the Gage Institute, under whose auspices the clinic functions, to make the survey a success. Let us in turn show our co-operation by making sure we keep our appointment and urging our neighbor to keep his.

What Others Think

CANADA, A WORLD LEADER

(The San. Swift Current, Sask.)

In the many things that have been written of Canada, as we have just got through celebrating eighty years since Confederation, many have lost sight of the fact that she has established for herself a leading role among the great trading nations of the world. Exports of $53 million in the first year of Confederation increased to $2,312 million in 1946, while imports during the same period rose from $67 million to $1,927 million. Canada by 1946 had become the third ranking country of the world in the volume of commodity trade that annually crossed her borders. Just think of that.

The growth of Canada's exports has not been steady, but has moved in surges, paralleling the development of agriculture and industry in the country. Before 1900, exports centred primarily around the lumber industry, with cheese, meat and grain the chief items exported. The beginning of the century saw the rapid expansion of the west, and with it the development of a foreign market for Canadian wheat.

World War I gave added impetus to the expansion of our exports, with munitions the first manufactured goods to be exported in quantity from this country. Then in the early 20's base metals and newsprint made these industries greater, while lumber, wheat, flour and other agricultural products were largely responsible for the high level of export trade.

There was no pronounced recovery from the subsequent depression, with its drastic effects in export trade, until World War II. Again it was munitions a major factor. This war saw great expansion in Canadian manufacturing facilities, but, although these industries were in a better position than ever before to compete in world markets, export figures in 1946 indicate that primary products still hold a leading place in Canada's external trade.

A significant feature of the growth of Canadian trade is the extent to which this has been carried on with two countries. Although Canadian exports have achieved wide distribution, particularly during and since the war, nearly two-thirds of goods exported from Canada in 1946 went to the United States and Great Britain. On the import side, the concentration is even more pronounced, with 83 percent of Canadian imports in 1946, and 86 percent in the first four months of 1947, coming from the United States and the United Kingdom.

NATIONAL PICTURE SOUGHT ON FARM PRODUCTION

(Canadian Statesman, Bowmanville)

The Agricultural Division of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics recently sent out cards to Canadian farmers seeking facts on crop acreages and livestock numbers. It is hoped that most of these will be filled in and returned in order to get the national picture of expected farm production. In view of Canada's position as one of the leading exporters of agricultural surpluses and the necessity of looking well ahead to maintain the supply for markets abroad it is almost a duty for farmers to furnish the information desired. Ottawa asks that these completed cards be returned promptly to help in shaping policy.

Currently there is no problem in selling surpluses due to the heavy demand in war-torn countries. But as recovery abroad must be taken into account as time goes on the problem of surpluses will to that extent become accentuated. No matter what international agreements are made the aim of Canadian agriculture will be to maintain a balanced production of high quality foods. Supply and delivery on this basis is the surest means of attracting and holding customers for the future. Policies and decisions now being taken will determine the future for many years to come.

Plans of the Food and Agriculture Organization of which Canada is a member take into account the position of Canada as a leading exporter of food and allocations will be formulated accordingly. To maintain fair prices and avoid surpluses is the main objective. One of the first requirements of the F.A.O. is to have accurate information on the world's food supply. Hence this further reason for farmers of Canada to supply accurate facts on the cards sent out. The idea is wholly co-operative and entirely logical approach to present and future situations. It is hoped that the department will receive full support in compiling this necessary information.

WARNING TO THE GOVERNMENT

(Free Press Herald, Midland)

Voters of Peel county have told the Ontario government that they are quite satisfied to remain under the Canada Temperance Act. They do not want beer and strong liquors sold in their towns and villages.

The result of the vote with its majority of 574 votes is a signal to which the Ontario government should pay heed. The rural people of the province, who are the custodians of its conscience, are death on the liquor traffic. It was they who ran up the majority in Peel.

For years some Ontario politicians have been itching to get rid of the Canada Temperance Act in Peel and one or two other counties where it is still in force. When "Mitch" Hepburn was premier he did his best to have the act upset in its application to Peel so that beer parlors might be located in Brampton and other urban centres. The Drew government applied to the privy council for a ruling, and discovered that the C.T.A. was good law, and the only way of upsetting it was by the vote of the people.

The liquor interests rounded up sufficient signatures to make a poll necessary. The vote was taken and the people have spoken. Peel county will remain dry.

And so would most of rural Ontario if given a chance.

50 YEARS AGO

From The Era and Express files, Friday, July 16, 1897

Mr. Geo. Fierheller is spending his vacation at home.

At the elocutionary contest held in Aurora Miss Laura O-

We have all known people from whom emanates an atmosphere of beneficence, protectiveness and power. To me, trees are like that. In all nature, I think, a tree is the nearest to humanity.

From every window in our home, the skyline is broken by tree tops. Tops sharply etched against the sky—all lovely, all distinctive. A tree, to me, is like a mother—it provides a home and food for so many small creatures and stretches out wide green arms to provide shade for human and animals alike. Each race on earth has distinct characteristics—something that sets it apart from other races. But in some cases one can make mistakes. Who ever mistook an oak for a maple, a mountain ash for a lark? Each species is distinct—its color, the shape and edging of the leaves, the way the leaves are set on the branches and the branches on the trunk.

Bird Life

I have watched with keen pleasure the bird life in the trees about the house—at times so silent, at times anything but. High up in the great pine the orioles swing their cradle and one hears them calling "here, here" and sees the vivid flash of wings as they come to sample the food always ready for them.

The robins are more secretive and build near the centre and in and about. Other little birds go about their housekeeping and family affairs, I suppose, as amiably as in many human communities.

Once in a while one hears angry chirps and sees ruffled feathers but most of them are so busy satisfying the voracious appetites of their young that they haven't much time to spend in wrangling.

Breakfast In A Hurry

I saw a funny sight the other morning. Quite a flock of birds of various shapes and sizes were busy on the feeding ground, then I saw what amused me—a mother and father poking bread into the widely opened beaks of their family. How said family didn't choke with the rapidity of the feeding remains a mystery, but the beaks opened and closed with machine-like regularity until some noise startled them and they all made off. I've come to the conclusion the birds think it's less work to have me cater to their young than to forage, for this is often repeated. In the mornings we almost feel as if we had a bird chorus to waken us for the great pine almost touches our bedroom window and the little choristers hail the day with praise and with liquid love songs. The trees and the birds are a source of joy all the day long, into the late evening when one hears a laggard being welcomed—or scolded on his return to the family.

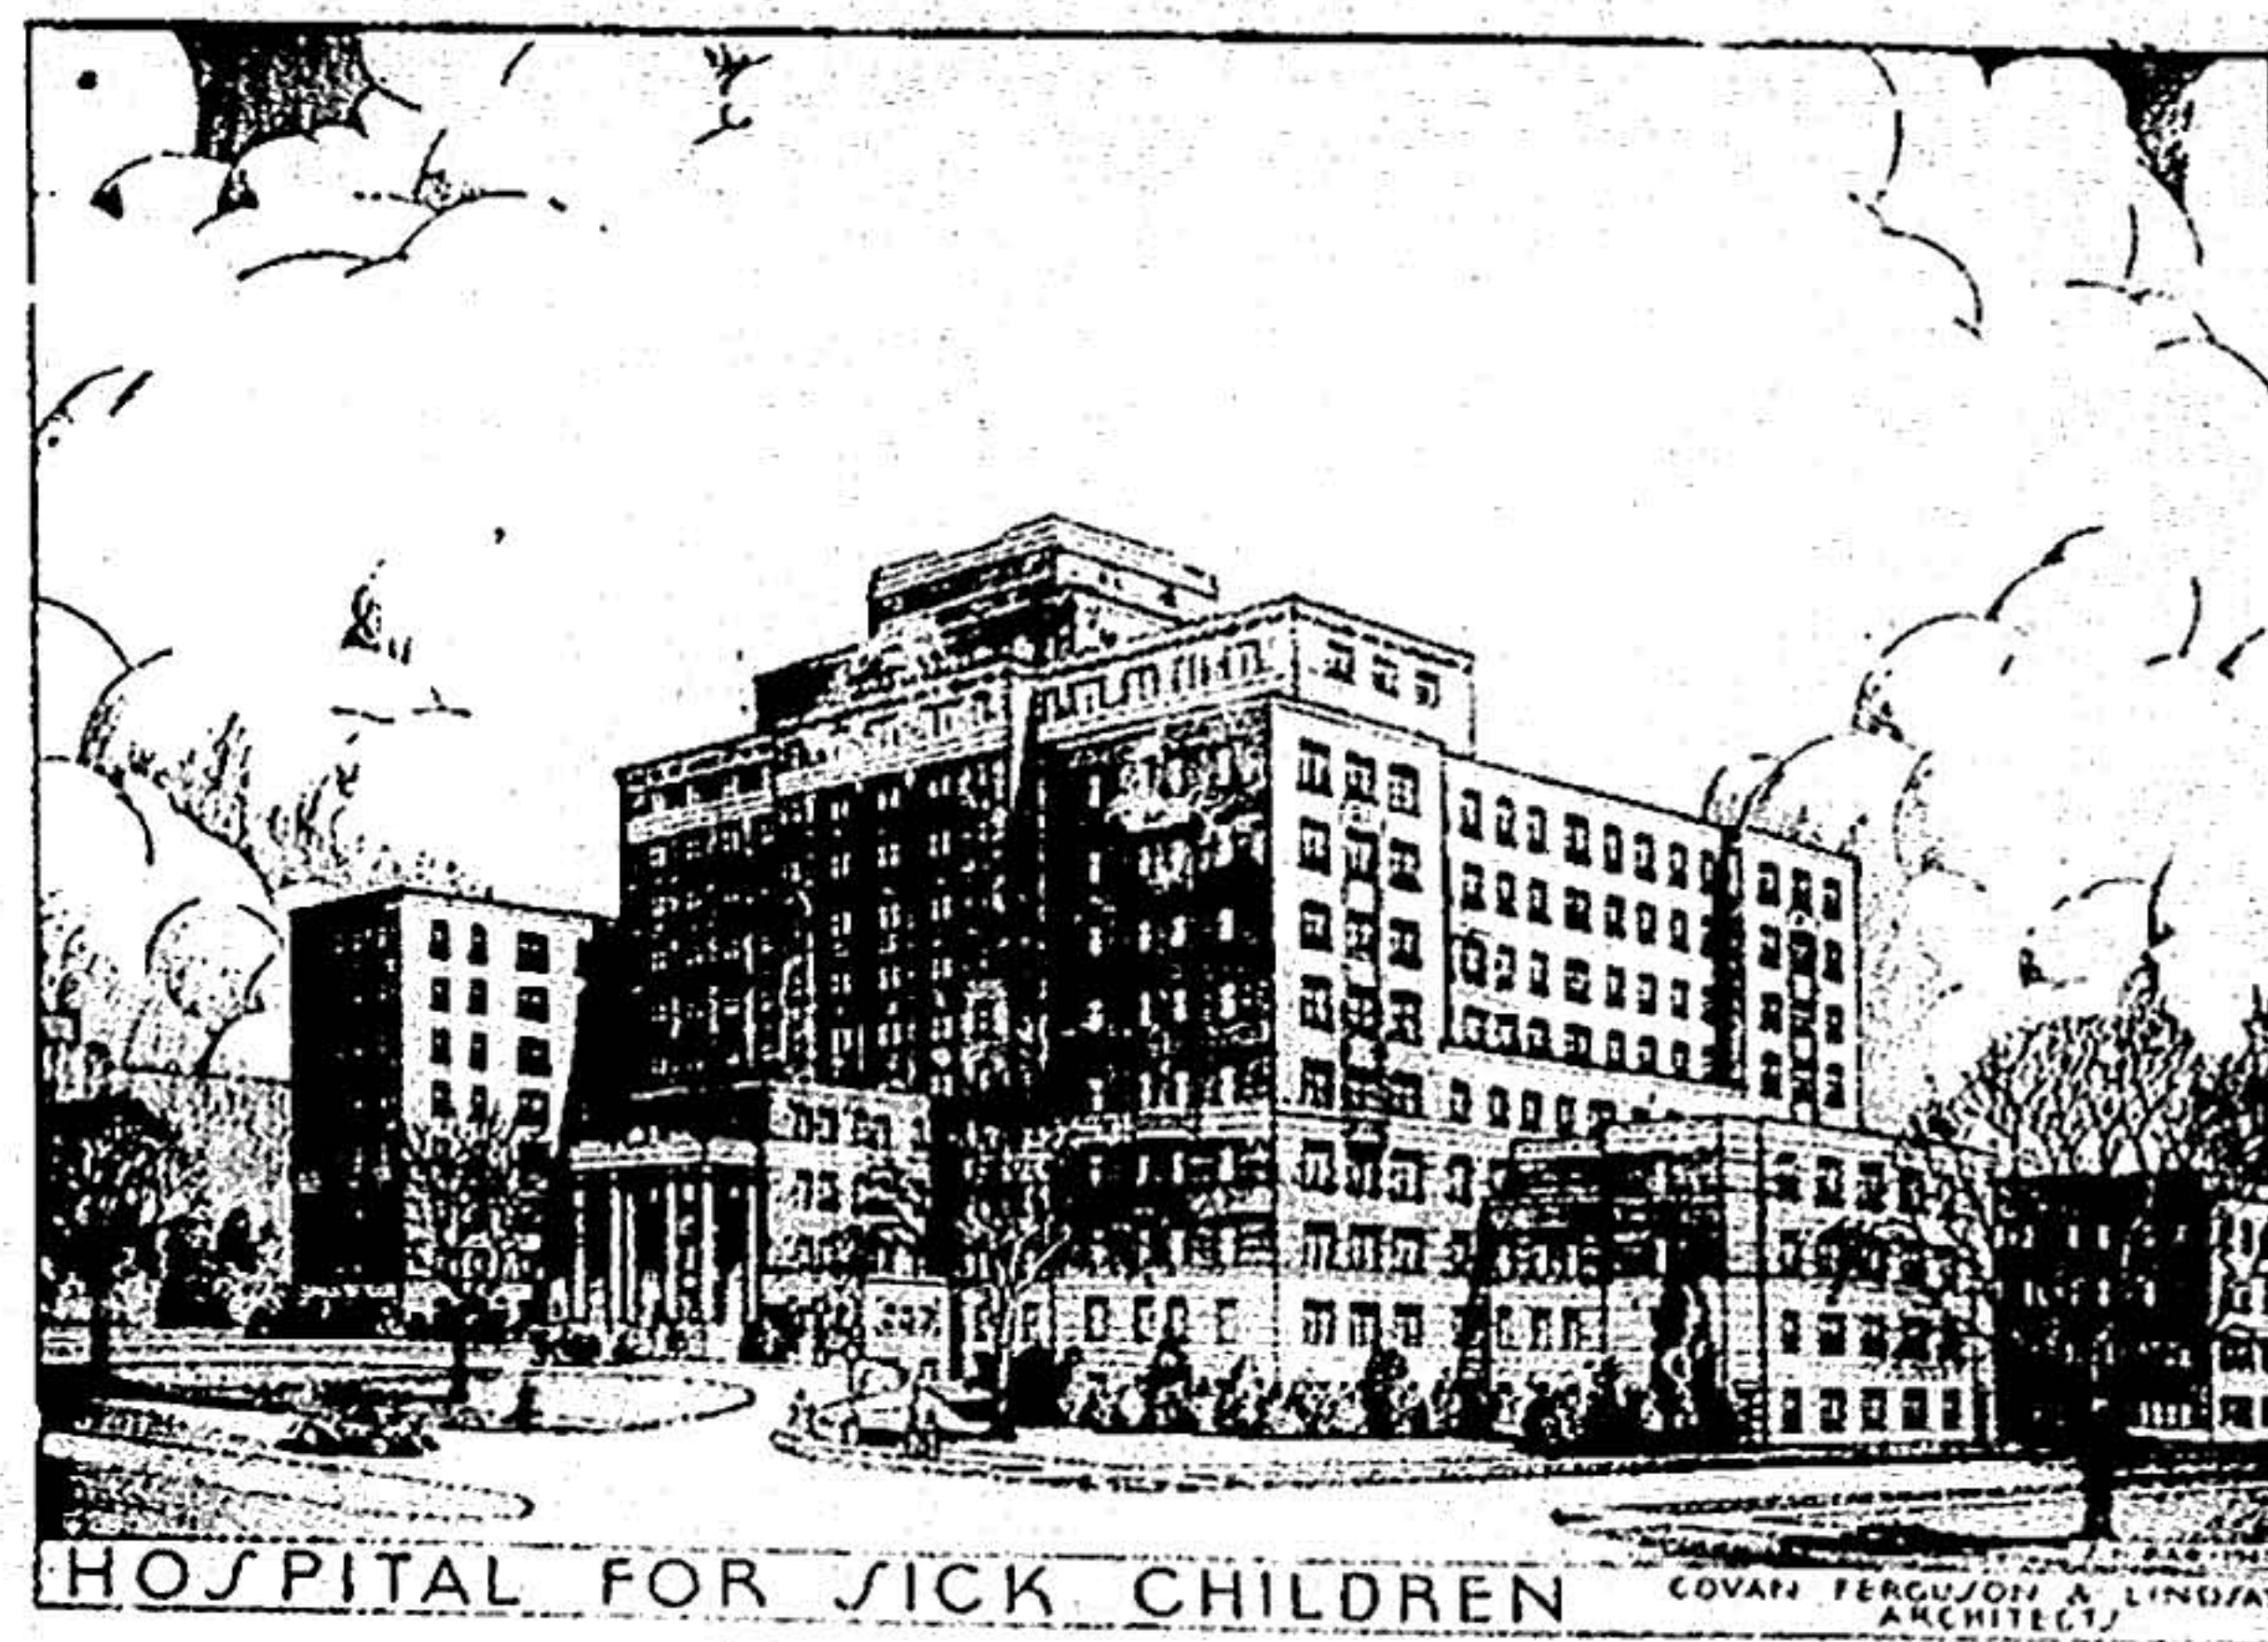

Mrs. Elmer Starr asked me one day if I'd like to see them taking away some of the great old trees from their bush back of our property. As this was something I did want to see, Mr. Starr took a car full of women and children back through Mr. B. Dike's bush to see the operation.

The bush was lovely that day. Under our feet little lacy-leaved flowers, thistles that were really beautiful and other forms of growth that were unknown to us bloomed and lived out their little lives—but that day they were not just part of a shadowy bush world. They were a carpet under the feet of the executioner, for many giants of the forest, beheaded and denuded of their limbs, were lying ready for their last journey from the scene of their birth and splendid living. There they lay in rugged grandeur, but like humans who pass away, their work well done, awaiting a new and different life. A mammoth machine with an outlandish name and a great high head like a dinosaur and two grabbing arms was waiting for them. One by one they were seized by the monstrous hands, guided up a runway and laid neatly on a truck, tractor drawn, and while all this prehistoric movement went on behind him, the driver sat unconcerned while Mr. Bert Hawtin guided the trees up the ramp and the dinosaur clawed them in.

Flowers fade and die but not so the trees. True, some will warm your home and mine—give comfort and beauty for a few hours—but a great many of them will go into the building of homes, of factories, of great public buildings, of chairs and tables and lovely things—they will live on. Polished and perfected, the lovely grain of their wood brought out, they will be "a thing of beauty and a joy forever". We have a sofa and chest and chest of drawers well over 100 years old and the wood is as beautiful, the construction as solid as the day they came from my grandfather's work shop. They are hand-made by someone who loved the wood and the work. The trees who gave them to us still live and although it is too much like the passing of friends to see trees leave their home—yet some of them live again.

In the past they gave shelter and food and comfort to birds and beasts—they go now to do the same for humans. It soothes the hurt that the bare places in the tree ranks leave. To change the poem a little, "Words are written by fools like me, but only God can make a tree".

He wanted to pay the Bank A BONUS!

June 20th—John J. Veroba of Lampman, Sask., applied to the Bank of Montreal for a loan of $2,000 to purchase a threshing combine. His loan was sound... and the loan was made.

Veroba's new machine was delivered on June 25th. Later, with his own crops still four weeks from in, he set out for Sharon Springs, Kansas. With his combine he worked for the farmers there and in the surrounding communities for one month to the day.

Meantime his own crops were ripening. Early in the autumn he turned northward to Lampman, and on his August 11th, immediately remitted to us the full amount he had borrowed. His work had given him back the purchase price of his combine!

The interest charge was $12.60. So pleased was this man to possess his own combine free of all debt, and to have his own harvesting with a happy and easy conscience, that he wished to pay the Bank of Montreal a bonus in appreciation.

Veroba, of course, declined the bonus, but is gladly giving the expression of John Veroba's thanks in the form of permission to tell his story in this advertisement.

It is typical of the assistance which the Bank of Montreal is extending to go-ahead farmers and demonstrates how true its promise: "When you ask for a loan from M.M., you do not ask a favour."

GET THREE MONTHS FOR THEFT OF COW

Newmarket — Walter Cowie and Ike Prentice, Stouffville, were each sentenced to a term of three months in magistrate's court here on Friday when they were convicted of stealing a cow from Warren Graves. A third man, James Hickman, was convicted of the same charge by Magistrate Martin in Toronto on June 30. Magistrate O. S. Hollinrake, O.B.E., K.C., presided at Friday's session.

Cowie and Prentice both pleaded not guilty to the charge. Warren Graves, Mount Albert, testified that a cow had been stolen from his farm in May and he had later seen it at Earl Harrison's on the fifth concession of East Gwillimbury, about 12 or 14 miles away. He said he identified the cow by a "u" slit in her ear. Mr. Graves said Cowie had worked for him at one time.

"I heard Harrison had bought a cow pretty cheaply and I went alone to see her. It was the cow I lost," he said.

J. Earl Harrison and Jim Hickman and Fred Pegg had come to see him and had asked him if he wanted to buy two Jersey heifers. "Later they brought this cow to my place. I was present when Graves identified the Hereford. I bought it from Hickman but there were two other men present whom I had never seen before." He said he thought the two accused men were the ones who had been present but refused to identify them positively.

"It was dark and one of them kept hidden. I couldn't see the cow very well at night but when I went out in the morning I realized something was wrong. The cow had been delivered in a 1929 or 1930 red truck. Hickman was driving and it was he who received the money from me. I paid him $37.50 for the cow and I notified the police in the morning when I became suspicious."

James Hickman admitted he had been convicted by Magistrate Martin on June 30 and said that at that time he had pleaded guilty and had been sentenced to three months. He said he had known the two accused for a year and a half. "We took the cow to Mr. Harrison after we had stolen it from a field. We did not know whose it was. The two accused were with me when we loaded the cow on my brother-in-law's truck between 8 and 8.30 p.m. It took all three of us to catch the cow and we all had a hand in loading her on the truck off a bank."

Divided the Money
"Cowie and Prentice were with me when I sold the cow to Harrison but they were in the truck. We divided the money after the sale at the time when Cowie and Prentice left me. I was with Cowie when I was taken into custody."

Fred Pegg, a brother-in-law of Hickman's to whom the three men paid a visit on the night of the theft, said Cowie and Prentice had been Hickman's companions on the occasion and Cowie had been present when Hickman told him about the cow. He denied having seen a basket of eggs which Cowie claimed he had been delivering to a neighbor.

Detective W. E. Martindale testified that on June 11 he had visited the Harrison farm and Harrison had described the truck used when the cow was delivered. He said he later located a truck answering the description in the barnyard of the employer of Hickman. He said he later took Hickman, Cowie and Prentice into custody.

"Neither Cowie nor Prentice made any statements," he said.

Decline to Give Evidence
Both Cowie and Prentice declined to give any evidence on their own behalf.

"On the evidence placed before me, I would accept that of Hickman with great suspicion," Magistrate Hollinrake said. "Whether at this date he is uncertain of his facts or not I don't know. However, in support of his testimony was the evidence given by Harrison who was very cautious both in identifying the three men and in giving evidence. There was also the evidence of Fred Pegg whom I don't think had any great reason for going out of his way to support Hickman. I am quite sure that the cow discussion did take place in the presence of Cowie but whether Prentice was actually there at the time is not definite. There will be a conviction based on the corroboration of the evidence."

Crown Attorney Arleigh Armstrong said Prentice, who is 36, has a record dating back to 1929 but that Cowie has no previous criminal record. "Hickman, who received three months, was a first offender and was co-operative to the police and had character evidence given on his behalf." The sentence was dated back to July 2 and a second charge of receiving stolen goods was withdrawn.

A charge against Foster Hopkins, Holt, that he had threatened to kill his wife, Ruth Hopkins, was dismissed when it was revealed that Mrs. Hopkins had since left her husband.

Stanley Taber, Toronto, was fined $10 and costs when he was convicted of having liquor in his car. Constable Aubrey Fleury laid the charge. Jack Readman, Newmarket, was fined $10 when he pleaded guilty to careless driving. Constable Jack Lawrence testified that on June 28 he had investigated an accident at the intersection of the Bogart-town road with the second concession of Whitchurch. "I found Readman's car overturned in a strawberry patch. It had torn up a fence and the car was badly damaged. Readman said he had been driving 50 m.p.h. There were no other cars involved. In my opinion, excessive speed was the cause of the accident. Two of Readman's passengers were injured." A charge of dangerous driving was withdrawn.

WHAT NEXT?

What's scarce now? Lumber, nails, plumbing or wiring equipment... the list is endless. No sooner is one problem solved than another comes along. The scarcity of materials has delayed the completion of many now Hydro projects. This, combined with a greatly increased demand, has limited the power supply.

Never has Ontario used so much electricity as now... not even during the record-breaking war years. Another half million horsepower could be utilized almost immediately, if available. Hydro plants to generate that much and more have been planned and are under construction. Some additional power will be delivered this year... more in 1948. But it will be 1950 before the big new Hydro plant on the Ottawa river can start to pour its 360,000 horsepower into the Hydro system.

Why so long? It's because of the shortage of building supplies... a tremendous quantity of construction materials and electrical equipment must be sought and bought to build such a plant. The Ottawa river development alone requires a concrete dam nearly half a mile long, in addition to the power house and the thousands of items of electrical equipment, small and large. Building a new power plant often creates an entirely new community. It takes a long time... especially when materials are as scarce as they are now.

Few places in the world have as much electricity available per person as Ontario has. However, it must be conserved so that new homes and industries will all receive their share... so that the wheels of our factories will be kept turning and maximum employment and production maintained... use Hydro wisely and there will be enough for all.

Around Town

About the men and women you meet around town almost everyday.

Both of Lyman Bradley Rose's parents were born in the Mount Albert district and Lyman was born in Mount Albert, too, in 1888. He received his education in Newmarket and he then went into the building business with his father for several years. Later he took his embalmer's course in Toronto before buying the business in Newmarket known as Watson and Hall, Funeral Directors. He bought the business in 1921 from Charles

LYMAN B. ROSE

H. Watson and in the same year the late N. J. Roadhouse came in with him.

Lyman had married Mildred Roadhouse, his partner's daughter, in 1918. Mrs. Rose had worked in her father's office as bookkeeper for several years and since her marriage she has assumed the bookkeeping responsibilities of Roadhouse and Rose.

The couple has had three children, all of whom served in the armed forces. Don, who now works for his father, was a pilot in the air force for four years; Lloyd, who graduated this year in civil engineering and is now employed by the department of lands and forests, was a lieutenant in the army, and Helen, who is now at home, was an operational clerk at Boundary Bay.

Lawn bowling is Lyman's principal diversion now, although he used to be active in hockey circles. He was president of the Newmarket Redmen hockey club when it won the dominion championships in 1933. He is also a past president of the Newmarket Lawn Bowling club and was a member of the team which three years ago won the Office Specialty trophy. He has been bowling since 1921. He is an ardent hunter in the deer season but doesn't do any fishing.

Lyman also served on the Newmarket public school board for 12 years, retiring about four or five years ago. He says he "wasn't responsible for any radical changes." He is a Mason.

FRIENDS MEET

"It is rare to find philosophy of history or a philosophy of religion, whatever its title, that is consciously or avowedly based on the spirit and teaching of Jesus. Decisions are rarely based on His principles nor reference made to them."

"A Christian philosophy is one which assumes the truth and practicability of the teaching of Jesus. Here it is on common ground with Christian faith, which accepts Jesus as the incarnation of divine wisdom, as the divinely sent teacher of the true way of life—the way of abundant and eternal life. In the attempt to solve the problems of modern life a really Christian philosophy must begin with Jesus."

Limit Teaching

"Most Christians reject or limit the use of Jesus' teaching as the starting point in a philosophy of life on other than historical or literary grounds. The chief of these are 1: that Jesus was an impractical idealist whose teaching cannot be taken seriously except as 'counsels of perfection'; or 2: that he limited their application, consciously or unconsciously, to certain areas of conduct and did not contemplate their application beyond these, especially in the spheres of economics, jurisprudence or politics, national or international; or 3: that Jesus intended his teaching only as an interim ethic—suitable only for the brief interval before the imminent parousia; or finally 4: that Jesus' teaching was intended for the millennial conditions of the coming Kingdom but never for use in the present evil world."

"The only serious way in which we can find a Christian philosophy of life is to treat Jesus' teaching with the simple honesty with which we would examine the teaching of an expert in any other field, that is, to take his language in the plain and natural meaning which great men of his time would attach to it. We assume that a great teacher is able to express his ideas in language understood of the people whom he seeks to teach; that he will not use words in unusual senses without explanation; nor offer as practical advice and directions for conduct things impossible or impracticable, without indicating that he is speaking ideally, giving counsels of perfection or offering principles applicable only in selected groups or in some future age or in another world. A Christian philosophy of life must therefore begin with the assumption that Jesus' teaching is to be understood in its common sense, natural meaning and that, so understood, it furnishes the basic assumptions of such a philosophy.

"The basic assumptions of Jesus' life and teaching may be particularly summarized as follows:

"1. Jesus built on the foundation of Jewish ethical monotheism. This includes the concepts that the universe is fundamentally personal, that 'knowledge of God' is possible to man, that there is a cosmic moral order, that within the limits of man's nature and environment human freedom and environment and moral responsibility are realities and that the interplay of moral power and moral freedom provides a philosophy of history which the Hebrew prophets called 'judgment'."

"2. The personality of Jesus—his life, mission and teaching, have universal and cosmic significance. They reveal to us the highest elements in human personality and in the character of God."

"3. Jesus—in his character, spirit and teaching—gives a pattern of conduct valid for all relations of life. As a corollary of this:

"4. Human moral and spiritual progress must be brought about by the use of spiritual means, that is, by the powers of the human spirit by the use of truth, justice, goodwill, mercy and brotherly love; for evil can be overcome only with good."

In his second address, Freedom and Responsibility in Modern Life, Dr. Russell said that people of ancient times had different problems than they now face. Life was more restricted in ancient times, he said, and people did not have the same temptations. In Biblical times there was not enough wine and what there was was not strong enough to do much damage. War was limited by primitive and crude weapons. Chaperons were standard equipment to protect the virtue of the young women and the lack of transportation facilities meant that people were almost constantly in the company of friends and were influenced in their behavior by those friends."

Dr. Russell said that all of these restricting forces are now removed, the "props" are now gone and the onus is on the individual to maintain a high standard of behavior. Dr. Russell's third address was on Worship and Christian Living.

Tell of Japan

Gurney and Elizabeth Binford spoke on the problems in Japan. "The problem is vast," they said. "What can be done? The answer may be found in the story of the pilot of a vessel. The pilot was very skillful in steering his ship into or out of a port. Someone asked him how he knew where all of the shoals and sandbars were and he replied that he did not know but that he looked for the open channels."

"Christianity is the open channel which will avoid the shoals and sandbar problem. Christianity is the light that shineth in the darkness and the darkness cannot put it out."

Mr. and Mrs. Binford said they were told by some Japanese, "We have been deceiving ourselves—we lost everything physically and spiritually but now we know God is with us through everything."

"A Japanese nobleman was taken sick," they said. "He required a nurse and wished to have a Christian nurse. He secured one and she nursed him back to health. Through her influence, the nobleman became a Christian and some in his family also became Christians."

"A Japanese said to us one time, 'Only democracy, based on religion, is the force that can save Japan. We trusted too much in military power instead of trusting God.'"

"General MacArthur has said,

"History has shown the futility of the dependence on force to preserve peace." A Japanese general said of Japan's problem, "Japan will first have to purify her own soul." Saburo Kakuya, a young Japanese of 34 who is engaged whole heartedly in Christian work, said that everywhere he went he found the people seeking after God."

Tells of India
Ranjit Chetsingh, Delhi, India, gave an illuminating talk on his country. Through this cultured, warm hearted friend the audience was taken to many centres, north, south, east and west in India. His talk included friendly concerns—the dissemination of the Quaker view point in life in some centres in India.

The speaker, when a small boy, played with American children and with English children. These children later moved elsewhere and he corresponded with them, thus broadening his world horizon.

"India has 400,000,000 people living in an area about half the size of the United States, so it is not surprising that, in such a vast population, differences of preception arise," he said. "There is a great deal of tolerance and a great deal of intolerance among the Indian people. The world needs new patterns for its well being."

"In 1868 an English friend, Rachel Metcalf, felt moved to go to India to be a message bearer for the Quaker way of life. The work of Friends in India started through her. She created a nucleus from which grew a Quaker meeting. As a result of her efforts, the mid India Yearly Meeting of Friends came into existence. Rachel Metcalf worked against a handicap that to most people would have exercised a forbidding deterrent from engaging in public service. She was so physically crippled that as a means of conveyance she had to be wheeled about in a chair. Such fortitude of spirit is an inspiring example of the grace of God operating in the human mind."

The speaker said that, on his father's side, he came from Hindu stock. He himself grew out of a Presbyterian shell into Quakerism. Originally he was a member of London Yearly Meeting, later becoming a member of some Yearly Meetings of Friends in India.

Among the encouraging thoughts given by Ranjit Chetsingh was, "We will be given the strength to give a spiritual message if we have the urge in our hearts."

J. Barnard Walton gave a digest of the American Friends' Service Report and Wilbur

Donald Wayne, four and a half months old when this picture was taken, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Ferguson, Newmarket. Photo by Budd.

Cooper also gave an interesting address.

Fred Haslam, Pelham, gave the 16th annual report of the Canadian Friends Service Committee. Mr. Haslam said the main work of the committee during the past year had again been in connection with relief abroad. "The recovery of the world from the recent disaster has shown little progress with regard to the provision of the necessities of life for central Europe and Asia."

"The Friends Service Unit, China, has now taken over the work formerly done by the Friends Ambulance Unit. Among the supplies sent to Europe have been powdered milk, cod liver oil, cocoa, concentrated orange juice, blankets, wool and pabulum. A clothing warehouse has been set up for relief for Japan. Baling of clothing is proceeding and 30 bales have already left the clothing room. In addition, powdered milk has been purchased with money received for Japan."

Yes, it is a rather grim prospect—the suggestion that you are slipping or that some member of your household may be "laid up" indefinitely by a lingering illness.

Nazarene Camp Shows Progress During Year

The Nazarene camp meeting held at the Nazarene Cedarvale Park, Pefferlaw, has just concluded and was a great success. Hundreds of people attended the camp meetings and between one and two hundred knelt at the altars. Many Nazarenes have built their own cottages at the camp, including Rev. L. E. Sparks, minister of the Newmarket Church of the Nazarene, who has built a four-room cottage covered with roll brick siding, located in the midst of cedar trees.

Although the camp was only purchased one year ago and only three buildings were on the ground at the time, 25 buildings are there now including a large dining hall with accommodation for 200. Plans are underway to build a large tabernacle for next year's camp. At present, a boys' camp is in progress on the ground which will be followed by a girls' camp and young peoples' institute. During the regular camp meetings a vacation school was held, also young peoples' meetings and Christian service training classes.

English Woman Says Thanks For Her 'Personal Parcel'

Newmarket.—In a letter received recently by Mrs. Caroline Edwards from Mrs. F. Burton of Market Harborough, England, on behalf of Mrs. Cooper, another British family sends its appreciation for added foods received under the Personal Parcel Plan. Writes Mrs. Burton: "I am writing this letter for my mother, thanking you very much for your wonderful parcel which she received in very good condition. She is 83 years of age and of fat are very small. The tins of meat which you sent to her would have taken more points to buy here than she is allowed for one month, and which also have to buy biscuits, sardines, fruit, jellies, etc., when you can get them, so I am sure you can judge for yourself how pleased she was."

"My father died four years ago and Mother has lived by herself ever since and she has been in ill-health most of the time. I am pleased to say I live next door and am able to look after her. My husband is a factory storeskeeper and I have a boy aged 14 and a girl aged 18."

"The pillowcase which the parcel was in was in good condition and she is using it, as all bed linen, curtains and clothes have to be bought by coupons and we are only allowed 32 to last seven months (which I can assure you are not sufficient to purchase all that is required). You can judge for yourself how far they go when I tell you that for my husband it takes 26 coupons to buy a suit, eight more for a pair of shoes, then there are socks, shirts and overcoat all of which need coupons so you see we have to go without a lot of things."

"We are having some very nice weather just at present. Thank you very much once again for sending Mother such a nice parcel. She was very disappointed at not being able to write to you herself."

Young Hopefuls

Prestige Behind A Fence

Ellen is three years old. She lives on a busy street, full of children. Her parents were very much concerned about her safety until they built her an enclosed playyard. Some of the neighbors were skeptical about the advantages of a playyard because their children refused to be confined to their playyards. However, Ellen's parents taught her to feel that she was privileged to have a playyard of her own. She can invite her own friends to play in her playyard when she chooses. She delights in acting as a little hostess. When she wants to be alone, her playyard is her protection. The other children are complimented when she invites them to play with her in her playyard, although they feel that they are being punished if they are confined to their own playyards.

Ellen really enjoys her playyard. She feels very secure in its confines, even though she climbed over the fence one day just to prove she could. That was the day she had such difficulty unlocking the gate in order to return to her haven.

The parental attitude is so important when initiating young children to new ideas. New ideas are usually acceptable to children if they enhance the child's importance—give him a feeling of added prestige—make him a privileged character.

In the instance of Ellen's playyard, her parents helped her to regard it as something very wonderful—a place that was hers—built expressly for her. Instead of putting her in it to get her out of the way, or putting her in it to assure her safety, Ellen's parents let her use it when and how she chooses.

As a result, Ellen prefers her playyard to the house and to the street. Of her own accord, she keeps out of the way of domestic activities and is protected from the neighborhood ruffians and street traffic. Parental attitude is very important.

LARGE ATTENDANCE FOR CHURCH SCHOOL

Aurora.—There were a good number of registrations last Sunday for the Aurora Church School which starts next week. Those who have not yet registered are asked to do so next Sunday at their own Sunday-schools, though it can be done if necessary on the first day of the school, July 21.

The town constables have offered to be on duty at the corner of Mosley and Yonge Sts. from 8.45 to 9.15 a.m. during the school, to see that the children get safely across the highway, and the children are instructed that they must cross at that corner or else at the traffic lights. They will be conducted across again at 11.45 a.m. when the morning session is over.

On the first morning, next Monday, all the children regardless of age, are asked to be at the Salvation Army citadel on Mosley St. by 9.15 a.m. so that they can be allotted to their proper departments. On the other mornings of the school the children go directly to the church in which their own department is to meet.

The departments of the school are: beginners, four and five years (pre-school) will meet in Salvation Army citadel; primary, six, seven and eight years, in the United church; and the juniors, 9, 10, 11, and 12 years, will meet in the parish hall.

The activities will include Bible study, games and handicraft and the program in each department is being worked out with a good deal of care. The school will be held on July 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 29, 30, and 31. The closing will be on the afternoon of July 31.

MUST LEARN CAUSE OF DRINKING—WORKER

(Contributed by Leonora Starr, press secretary, Newmarket W.C.T.U.)

At the recent York and Peel W.C.T.U. convention held at Willard Hall, Toronto, Capt. Mary Webb of the Salvation Army gave a talk on social service and drinking in the home.

The speaker said the problem could not be approached on a purely academic angle. William Booth, moved by the social evil of the effect of liquor on home life, was driven to action and worked with the outcasts of society, Capt. Webb said. The lower strata were their special people.

Capt. Webb said when a human being got the craving for alcohol they were almost helpless. There are 7,000 chronic alcoholics in a city the size of Toronto. They are from the age of 14 to 60 and the ratio is five men to one woman. Every group is affected. Poverty and crime seem to come from alcohol—90 percent of the misery in the world is due to alcoholism, she said.

An introvert personality dwells on his problem and upon his inadequacy, she continued. The neurotic person has no constancy of purpose. These are defects and produce the inability to face up to life. Early childhood training is most important. There are many people who cannot face up to life's difficulties. If they are inadequate they should receive help. We try to find out why she or he is the way they are, she said.

The speaker had been talking to a man recently who had done quite a lot of work with those down and out. He told Capt. Webb that if there were 200 in the hall, 75 to 100 would be alcoholics. The speaker said this man really did help these men by getting the confidence of the alcoholics and finding out why they started drinking. Sometimes they started to drink when there was a break in the family. The wife runs off with another man or the man runs off with another woman. Sometimes a way back something had broken down in the family. She told of a woman, 80 years of age, who had such a craving for drink that she had been in and out of Don Jail so much that Don Jail was her home. You can't help anyone unless they want to be helped, Capt. Webb said. There must be a positive rather than a negative mental training of children. They must have adequate recreational facilities. There must be homes for working girls and institutions for chronic alcoholics. It is the state's responsibility.

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

In the eyes of employers, "lack of initiative" is considered the most serious fault a worker can have. It is an insidious and dangerous fault.

For most of us, pride of achievement and desire for bigger earnings provide plenty of drive. But we may suffer from temporary loss of enthusiasm in our work due to illness, personal problems, or emotional upsets.

At such times it is desirable to take all possible measures to prevent these conditions from becoming chronic. The advice of a physician or close friend may help. So may a frank talk with your employer whose attitude will probably be very understanding.

Sometimes a man has little or no interest in his work. This may not be his fault. A change of job or additional responsibilities may be all he needs to make him "spark". But far too many men are in a rut because they are just plain lazy. To them I can only say: You'll be far happier if you give your job everything you've got!

The life insurance business in Canada has grown to tremendous proportions because it renders a needed service and is efficiently managed. In 1946, approximately $165,300,000 was paid out in life insurance benefits.

The North York GARDENER

By JOHN DALY
Vice President, Newmarket Horticultural Society

The sight of lilies in bloom suggested the subject for this week. A number of plants such as water lilies are not true lilies. However, the plants I have in mind are. These have certain characteristics in common. One of these is the structure of the bulbs. There are many shapes and sizes but all are formed from overlapping, fleshy scales. All require good drainage and if your soil doesn't have this, don't try to grow these plants until you can supply it. A 6" or 8" layer of sand or gravel at the bottom of a two-foot hole will be satisfactory.

Any good soil except a heavy type will grow lilies but a light, sandy loam with lots of humus is best. Fairly deep planting is another requirement for all of them. They should be planted four to eight inches deep and October is the time. One exception on three counts is the Madonna lily. It prefers heavy soil, shallow planting and August or early September is the planting time for it.

The time of blooming varies with the varieties of which there is a never-ending list. Every garden should have at least a few and a selection will supply blooms in the garden from June to September. Lilies are easily grown from seed and this would no doubt be an interesting hobby for some of you. There is some variation in the blooms obtained from seed but the fundamental characteristics of the parent will be retained. Lilies like cool root runs and a good mulch is an excellent method of supplying it. Another method is to plant them among low growing plants which supply shade for the roots while the taller stems of the lily reach for the sun.

There are other methods of propagating lilies. Some of them have two sets of roots. Besides the basal roots they also have a root system at the base of the stem above the bulb. These usually develop bulbils which can be grown to flowering size bulbs. In another method of propagation the scales are broken off from the basal plate and planted in a good sandy loam, the base down and the concave side up, about an inch deep. Small bulbils form in a few weeks but they should be left undisturbed for a year. They should have protection during the winter. The best time to do this is just as the flowers are fading.

A few form bulbils where the stem and leaf meet. The tiger lily is the best known of them. Planted like seed, these bulbils grow into flowering size bulbs in two years.

Probably the most popular lily is the regal. The flowers are trumpet shaped like the Easter lily everyone knows. It blooms in July and is hardy in our district. Crow's hybrids, a group of lilies similar to regal and introduced by Prof. Crow, bloom after regal and thus continue the blooming period of this type of lily into August. Another type of bloom, similar to the well known tiger lily, is featured by the stenographer group. These were raised by Miss Preston at the dominion experimental farm at Ottawa and named after the stenographers employed by the department. Lillian Cummings, with orange red flowers, is the earliest of the group and Grace Marshall, with dark red flowers, is the latest to bloom. All seven in the group between June and July with a few days between each and the two mentioned increase rapidly.

For something different in color, try L. Coronation. It is a clear yellow. This is another introduction from Ottawa. Blooms June and July. Philadelphia hybrids have upward facing flowers, something like a deep saucer. They bloom in late May or June.

Those of you who would like to know more about growing lilies would do well to send a request to the Dominion Department of Agriculture for the publication, Lilies for Canadian Gardens, by Isabella Preston.

SPLIT MATCHES

Newmarket—Sixteen doubles matches between members of the Aurora and Newmarket tennis clubs were played at an invitation tournament at the Newmarket courts on Wednesday night, with each club winning eight matches. The courts were in good shape and a return match is expected at a later date. Those participating were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Davis, Newmarket, following the competition.

HOLD TOURNAMENT

The Newmarket Tennis Club will hold a tennis tournament on Friday, July 25, at 8 p.m., with three Toronto experts and Keith Davis, Newmarket, participating. Anyone interested in tennis is welcome.

WIN AT TOTTENHAM

Twelve lawn bowling enthusiasts journeyed to Tottenham Monday evening to participate in a mixed doubles tournament. H. Cumber and Mrs. I. Heugan of the Newmarket club were high for three wins.

DOWN THE CENTRE

By AB HULSE

Newmarket: President Douglas May of the North Yonge softball league has declared war on softballers who go out of their way to do a spot of umpire-baiting and generally give the game a black eye with their intemperate language and pugnacious actions. "From now on, our umpires have full instructions to toss the boys from the game or the park if necessary and to rule the game with an iron hand," quote and unquote, sez Doug. "Umpires who can't control the teams won't be working in the play-offs and players who can't control themselves won't be playing either. We intend to take stiff disciplinary action if an umpire is forced to eject a player. The fans don't want that sort of ball. They want action and the crowds suffer because of such tactics. Let the chips fall where they may."

Harold Rogers has replaced Charlie Case as league secretary. Actually Charlie traded posts with Harold who was manager of the Aurora club. With no funds on hand to run the league, each team will be tagged 20 cents per playing certificate. It's a good idea and it's a case of "no tickes, no playee" with the league officials.

Markham: Doug James and his midget baseball club continue to roll merrily along and they will present quite a ball club in the O.B.A. playdowns. Bob Ringwood, the Markies pitcher, is a real prospect and is ably handled by "Nig" Black. Don Brown at first is another smart player. Added to the present club which boasts six wins and one loss are Roy Ward, George Timbers, Percy Schell and Grant Wells of the Stouffville club. Wells and Schell give James another smart battery and the team should hold their own this season in midget B, a new series wisely created by the baseball solons.

Bill Haskett, who is handling the Newmarket team which will also be in the O.B.A. series, has nipped a coup de grace by Markham in the bud. By verbal understanding at the start of the campaign, Richmond Hill players became the play-off property in this division of Newmarket. Then Markham signed Sylvio Stefan and Hillaby, Richmond Hill, on whom maestro Haskett had designs and the war was won. Group convenor Leonard Simmons has definitely ruled the two Hill boys must play with Newmarket or else. Haskett is satisfied his proteges will give Markham a real run for their money in the play-offs but the wisecracks are plumping for the southerners.

Thistletown: If North York softball fans ever get down this way they want to take a gander at the rural softball being played here. If they do they'll rub their eyes and shake their heads. Playing almost regularly at some spot and still taking a turn on the mound is none other than Alex. Webster, once the pride of the Newmarket Redmen and the North York circuit. While not possessing his old fireball or as spry in the legs as he once was (and he never was a Jesse Owens), Alex still does all right in competition and of course for pure knowledge of the game and tangling with and tying the ump's in knots, he still has no superior. The Thistletown team are doing all right for themselves and Big Alex is having plenty of fun. He's a resident of the community, too.

Stouffville: Horace Greeley may have suggested a trip west was a hot trip for ambitious youth but junior hockeyists are going to think things over before signing a certificate next winter and it's because "There's gold in them thar hills, stranger". A couple of weeks ago the Victoria Square-Stouffville junior hockey club tabled their financial statement for the year. Income was $1,162.85. Expenses listed were $418.58 and in the words of Mr. Micawber, there was "happiness" for all concerned. Each player and official received a windbreaker while the balance of $455.02 was meloned out by cheque to the players and coach. Not bad for the lads considering all the fun they had and certainly much better than any district junior team except the famous Newmarket Redmen has done for many a moon. The management of the club is to be congratulated on keeping down the expenses but of course many of the club supporters like Len Clement, Dalt Rummy and others fed the boys and contributed from time to time over the year. Highest amount tabled for expenses went for referees. Medical expenses amounted only to $17.35. We must express approval for the way the funds were divvied up—the boys earned the money and rightly enough got it. Chances are that the club won't operate next year either. Better to pass the funds out publicly than to send it to the same place under the table. The O.H.A. stands only for "Ontario Hockey Association", there's no other A in it. So far as this corner is concerned, the Victoria Square boys are all amateurs still. We hope this reaches the eye of that anonymous fan who persisted all winter in thinking we had the axe out for the Square team.

Aurora: Everything points to the Aurora Canadian Legion field day carded for Saturday, July 19, as being a pipperoo. A hardball game featuring the league leading Pete Woods, junior team of the North Toronto circuit, and Aurora Lions, a four-team men's softball tournament, horseshoes, in both singles and doubles, open to all comers, tug-of-war, a ladies' softball game (not including Newmarket ladies who are due to perform on that date under the floodlights at Danforth Stadium against McKinnon Fuchs), children's and adult races, a yo-yo contest and many more events, especially a six-hour boxing show and a big concert should pack them in. Percy Good and his Merry-makers will furnish the downbeat for the big street dance. Keep your fingers crossed for fine weather.

Across the river from the Alamo: Our old friend Doc McKelvey, Beeton, who has done much for girls' softball, harness racing and sport in general in Simcoe county, has been appointed as governor of the Simcoe county home for the aged. Girls' softball has resumed "south of the Mason-Dixon line" with Cedar Grove, Markham, Agincourt and Milliken in the throes of a red hot race. Frank Courtney is steamed up with the lack of competition provided for his Newmarket ladies in the district. We sympathize with him but the beatings handed out by the classy canalton gals to the other centres only tends to slow up the revival of girls' softball. Give them a year or two, Frank, and you'll be able to get plenty of opposition. Tubby Boyer, who played defence for Newmarket camp in the Newmarket-North York mercantile set-up and since has been home in North Bay, is due to report to Tavina rink come August for a trial with the Scottish hockeyists. Several junior players from North York are flirting with the idea of a trip across the pond.

John Madsen, Unionville, has a recreation leaders' School listed for August 3-16. We couldn't place many of the faculty listed but aside from sport, we did notice the names of Squad-Ldr. Rev. J. D. Parks, Toronto, and Leonard Herman. It looks like a vacation well worth attending for those interested.

Newmarket: "Are we men or are we mice?" asked Cegars McDonald, demanding to know why we were neglecting his league leading Newmarket Vets softball club. The rotund Mac hastened to inform us that the 12-1 loss sustained to Richmond Hill and 10-10 tie with the cellar dwelling Aurora club were but momentary lulls. "Wait until next Saturday. Wait until the play-offs. My boys will be hotter than hot with those two games out of their system." With another puff of his trusty stogie, Mac was away like Harpo Marx as he rattled off the line-up. "Pitching we really have, with Joint McComb, Lefty Glover and Art Doble to help out Bill VanZant. I use them all and this year I can spot Billy where I want him. Show me a mound foursome like that one." With nary a pause he informed us that Chuck VanZant, the playing coach, was as good as ever and his vocal chords and snappy repartee literally "kidded the batters into extinction". Toddy Mosler was available for relief duty but right now is suffering with a broken index digit. Mo Walsh, the hockey referee and now a time keeper at Hoffmans, was a welcome addition to the team at first base and fitted in with the team spirit. Fred Evans, Harvey Glibney, Doug Eves and Fred Dillman completed the inner cordon. With tears in his eyes, however, "Mac" recalled the names of Scotty and Stan Evans. "Don't know how I'd ever pick a starting team if I had them." The pasture pickers herded together this semester were the pick of the league, he opined. Mack Cain, the slugging hockeyist, Norm Legge and Alfred "Your as young as you feel" Smith with Harry Bong and the non-working pitchers as reserve strength. "Take Bong," smiled Jack. "Last year with Aurora he was so-so. Now it's hard to keep him off a regular post. Environment, that's what it is, environment. Him-hm, save that one for Molly when the nokey seasons starts next winter. Say, did I tell you about our bat boys? We fled before hearing a few hundred more choice words when Harold Rogers got us in tow and nonplussed both "Cegars" and yours truly with "Here's a fellow I'd like you to meet".

Vets Battle To 10-10 Tie In Slug-Fest At Aurora

In a game that boiled to a fever pitch, and provided plenty of free-hitting plus some choice lapses of memory by both teams, Aurora and Newmarket Vets' softballers played to a nine-inning 10-10 tie on Saturday night in Aurora. Joint McComb worked on the mound for Newmarket, and Ed Tidman went the route for Aurora, with honours about even.

Aurora led 3-1 at the end of the third. Newmarket tied it in the fourth and took what looked like a winning margin in the fifth by virtue of some solid slugging and careless fielding. It was 9-5 at the end of the sixth. In the seventh Aurora went for three only to have Newmarket come back in the top of the ninth with another run.

Down two runs, Aurora's chances dimmed as Doolittle was out at the plate as he tried to make three sacks on Tidman's double. Case walked and Tidman scored as VanZant's perfect throw to second found the infield asleep at the switch. Munro whiffed, to make it two out, but Case scored the tying run as Bong let Worth's drive get away from him.

For Newmarket, Cain, "Garfer" VanZant, Glibney and Walsh looked good. White in centre field for Aurora played a sensational game afield, while Castles, Yoke and McDonald came up with some fine plays.

Both teams had lost the night previous. Langstaff decking Aurora 13-8, and the Hill taking Newmarket 12-1.

Redmen Rout Sutton 16-4 For Two Successive Wins

By GEO. HASKETT, JR.

Newmarket Redmen said it with base hits at Pantry Park Monday evening when they potted out 15 safeties to rout the visiting Sutton Greenshirts by 16-4. It was the second victory in as many starts for the Redmen. Along with the 15 hits, pitcher Weir tossed in eight walks.

Included in the 15-hit barrage was Tommy Dales with an inside-the-park homer. The bases were loaded at the time and all his mates scored on the blow. Tommy McFale and Bill Hopper both had doubles. Grant Blight was again a big gun with the bat, nicking Weir for three singles and a walk to boost his batting average. Centre fielder Tommy McFale checked in with a double, a single and three walks.

Right hander Don Brown took on the pitching chore for the locals and came close to registering a shut-out. It wasn't until the sixth that Brownie weakened and allowed the visitors a run. They crossed the plate with four, catcher Halloran driving out a long home run over the centre field fence. In all, Brown set the visitors down with six hits.

The Redmen scored in every inning, starting with a run in the first, followed by three in the second and three in the third. Again in the fourth a single run came in and in the fifth they lashed out with eight counters, the side batting all the way around.

Fielding by the Redmen was first rate all night. Don Brown pulled down a hot drive from McMillen's bat in the initial inning, starting with a run in Jim Rutledge went high to snare a blistering drive and squelch a threatened Sutton rally. Rookie Dan Bovair and Gar "Knickerbocker" Elphinstone shared the left field work, Bovair walking and flying out to third base in his two trips while Elphinstone made a perfect start at the plate with a walk and a single into left field.

Redmen Show New Form In 8-7 Win Over Stouffville

By GEO. HASKETT, JR.

Are the Newmarket Redmen rolling again? It looks that way for the Redmen came up with a pleasing display at Pantry Park on Friday evening to trot off the field with an 8-7 triumph over their bitter rivals, Stouffville Lions.

Bill Hopper on the mound for the local nine chalked up his second victory of the season over the Lions. Hopper rationed out but five hits and wouldn't have been in very much trouble except for free passes doled out to the visitors. Backing up Hopper's pitching, his revamped mates lashed out with ten base hits, including three triples and a double, and played almost errorless ball afield. Stouffville called on two of their moundsmen to oppose, Bill "Porky" Schell and curve ball artist Carl Rowsie, Schell going out in the fourth in favor of Rowsie.

The Redmen greeted the offerings of Schell in the first frame with three hits to send over three runs. Tommy McFale and Grant Blight walked, followed by Jim Rutledge's single to load the sacks. Catcher Stan Winger promptly banged out a single into right field to score two of his mates and Grant Blight came in when third baseman Tommy Dales dropped down a perfect bunt. Rookie left fielder Dan Bovair crossed with the fourth run in the second as he stroked out a triple and scored when Jim Rutledge bounced out his second single.

Again in the fourth, the Redmen struck for three runs. After two were out, Jim Rutledge stroled to first, successive singles by Grant Blight and Stan Winger loaded the bases and all registered on the score sheet when Tommy Dales punched a three-base blow just inside the third base line. Bill Hopper scored what proved to be the winning counter in the last of the fifth, opening with a triple into left centre and completing the trip on Dan Bovair's double.

Rookie Dan Bovair had a large evening at the plate, bashing out a triple and a double, and only for a great running catch by Stouffville's left fielder Lew Raxlin, would have had a perfect night with the willow. Tommy Dales playing third base accounted for four runs with his first innings single and triple in the fourth. Grant Blight and Jim Rutledge both sparked the attack with perfect batting averages.

Stouffville stayed right in the hunt until the final out, short stop Jim Rutledge making a great catch in the sixth to start a double play and dash the visitors' hopes of getting in the tying run. Stan Winger featured his work behind the plate with a great catch on a bad throw from the outfield. Stan had to jump the bench, kick over the water pail, but he still came up with the ball to save a run.

All in all it was a big and exciting evening of baseball.
